

Phi Kappa

University of Illinois

January 16, 1929.

The boys have just returned from the generous Christmas vacation of sixteen days that we were so lucky to get this year. Santa seems to have been able to find most of them, even though they were scattered widely during the vacation, at least judging from the wide assortment of Christmas ties.

It seems there is always a dark cloud ready to cover up the sunshine. Finals, which come just two weeks after the Christmas vacation for us, have