

if he should wear a tan shirt with a brown suit. But, then, that is quiet after a night of shouting and tearing around by almost everyone in the House in preparation for the dance with Isham Jones and his orchestra of "de Milwaukee Journal station," WTMJ.

Since the beginning of the second semester the initiation of nine Postulants has, of course, been the most important event, especially in the eyes of the newly initiated. The new Brothers are: Eddie McGrade, Tommy Newbill, Donny Jackson, Romy Nelson, Buck Buchanan, Jack Rothgeb, Bob Gopel, Al Arison and Gene Schooley. Brothers Frank Schooley and Joe Vaille attended the banquet following the initiation. The annual freshman stunt show was given a week before formal initiation, but for reasons best appreciated by the freshmen I shall slip over that event without saying more. Brothers Marsh Sweeney, Frank Schunk and Doc Stevens witnessed this choice entertainment.

An observing person strolling along the streets of Champaign on the night of March 6 might have noticed several freshmen carrying barrels toward the Phi Kappa mansion at 311 Armory Avenue. These same freshmen will always be indebted to the Delts for being kind enough to loan us the barrels. The barrels, along with a very realistic but innocent bar, formed the decorations for the annual Apache dance. The only light was from red lanterns hung from the beams along the ceiling. The dance was a most successful one as every Apache and his girl friend will testify.

The Relay Carnival, the culmination of the indoor track season, occupied everyone's attention on March 17. Although we had no Brothers as contestants in the meet, nearly the whole Chapter went to see Barney Berlinger of Pennsylvania and Lee Sentman of Illinois run off with the honors. The following week the state high school basketball tournament controlled our interest. The only home town teams in the tournament were from Mt. Vernon and Peoria, but because both of these teams were eliminated the first night, the Brothers from those towns did not have a chance to gloat over the rest of the boys. Nevertheless every Brother had a favorite team and the interest was high.

Laurie Hubbard '32 received part of his initiation into Scabbard and Blade recently. It was a beautiful night for the occasion. Rain had poured down all day and the roads were good and sloppy. When he finally pulled in, he was entirely covered with slimy yellow mud. To top it off, he had an eight o'clock the next morning.

Phil Turner, who was graduated from the Law School this last semester, returned from Chicago today with the good news that he had successfully passed the Illinois Bar examination. Phi Kappa wishes him success in his work. Bill Stewart '33 was honored recently by being elected president of the sophomore class for the second semester. Bill has been active
