

war, claims A. R. Wildhagen, general assistant in the public information office of the University, in a recent article in Banta's Greek Exchange entitled "Illinois Greeks Carry On."

According to Fred H. Turner, dean of students, claims Mr. Wildhagen, the Illinois fraternities are in good condition although you can count on the fingers of one hand the houses that are completely out of debt. Dean Turner believes that fraternities offer a tangible grasp on civilian life to the returning serviceman.

Begun as a dream in the minds of a few far-seeing men, the $2,225,000 University airport is fast becoming a reality.

Some details of a thirty-two-million dollar post-war building program for the University were discussed by Gov. Dwight H. Green in a radio address over Station WDWS, Champaign, September 30. Of this total, the governor said that more than twenty-four million would be spent in Champaign-Urbana, more than seven million on the University's campus in Chicago.

Some of the units set forth as urgently needed to take care of post-war requirements . . . are: a power plant addition, addition to the distribution systems, physics research laboratory, sewer extensions, residence halls, chemical engineering building, fine arts building, mechanical engineering laboratories, electrical engineering building, veterinary building, animal husbandry laboratories. The program also includes expenditures for remodeling and modernization of existing buildings.

At least fifteen Illinois colleges and universities are planning to establish, continue, or expand student courses in aviation after the war, it has been disclosed in a nationwide survey of educational institutions.
