

ILLINOIS

‡ THE PLANNING COMMITTEE of the University extension service met recently in the Illini Union and recommended a program whereby some students would take their college freshman year in as many high schools as could find facilities for them.

These local schools would assume complete financial responsibility except for administrative