

20 YEARS OF DELL CARTOONS

His smile reflects the sense of humor apparent in his cartoons on campus life.

✚ THIS ISSUE COMPLETES the twentieth year that Bob Dell has been drawing cartoons for the GARNET AND WHITE. This is a commendable record, and he has brought many a chuckle to the Brothers through the years. Former National Editor Al Wharfield, Phi Kappa '30, talked Bob into his first contribution.

Bob has been making a living as a professional artist ever since he graduated from Illinois "in 1929 into the crash and depression." He put his talent as artist-humorist to good use at the Meyer Both syndicated advertising service. After 2½ years with the agency, he started out on his own, free-lancing, and worked successfully at it for several years.

He is now associated with D. C.

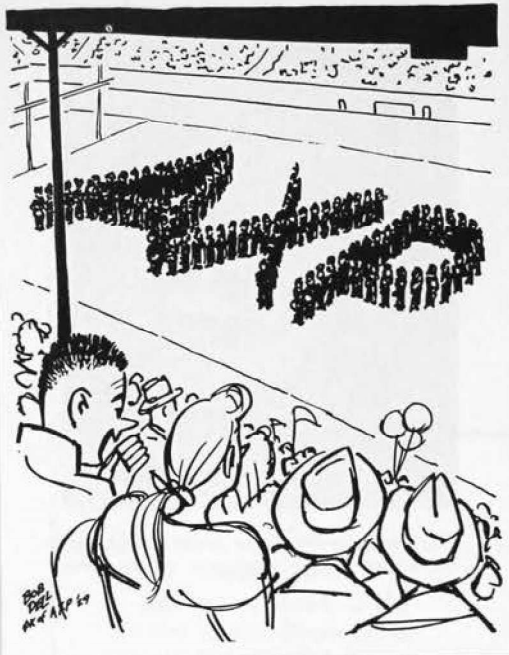

Multi-copy Service doing layout and composition work.

He remembers fondly that the first gag cartoons he sold were to the early humor magazine "Hooey," and to that popular American weekly, "The Saturday Evening Post." Since that day Dell drawings have appeared in just about every national magazine that uses cartoons.

As an undergraduate, Brother Dell used his artistic bent doing artwork for the "Illio Yearbook." He has an AB degree in English-Journalism, and hopes someday to do a little writing when time permits.

Congratulations to Bob for his fine record of service to the Fraternity! We hope he will continue to add humor to our magazine for many years to come.

September 1952

"We eased up on football players and concentrated on pledging musicians."

September 1954

"If I could be sure of winning that 'AXP Man of the Year' award—I'd have you send in a check for all my past dues."

June 1955

". . . 'course, you realize if I get a job—bang goes that little old income tax deduction!"

December 1953

"As I was saying—there are times when I could envy your fluency in forgotten tongues!"

March 1955

"Now, J. B.—Just because your nephew didn't choose your Fraternity is no reason to leave your entire fortune to the AXP Educational Foundation."

December 1956

1956 REVISED EXOTERIC MANUAL

September 1959

December 1955

"Oh, yes—Send him in and bring me my checkbook."

September 1955

"Oh, don't look so tragic—they probably won't expect you to remember the grip."

March 1956

"Oh, actually, I suppose it's no more than my duty to visit our new Chapter at Clarkson."

December 1954

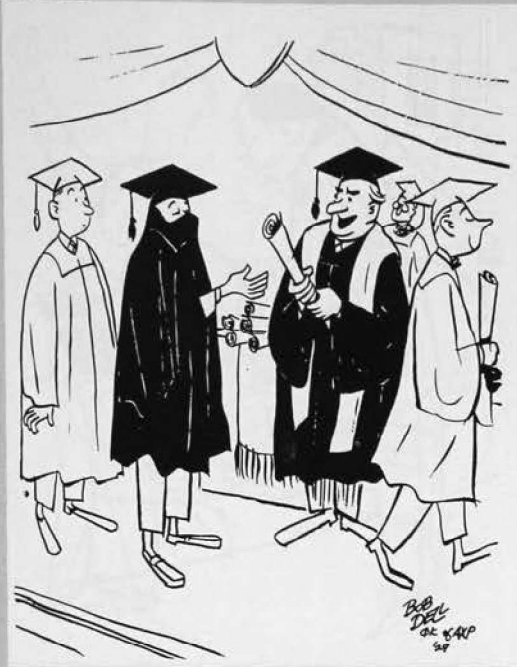

"Now you didn't hear me say anything when your Fraternity dues were increased!"

December 1951

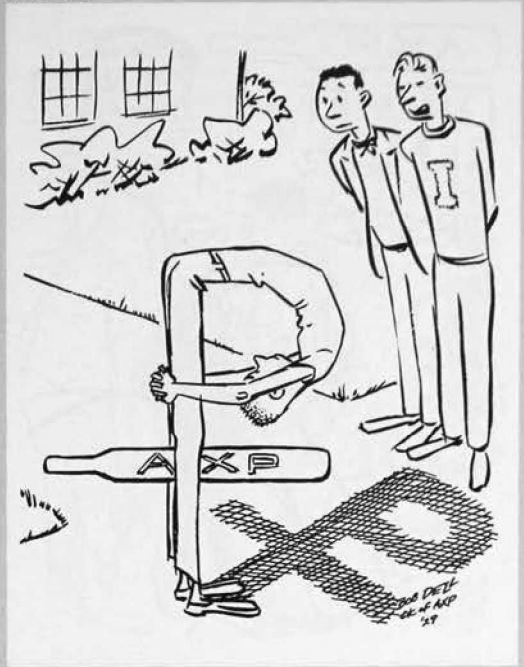

"For some reason I keep thinking about our reactivated chapter at California."

June 1952

"Just a minute, Fentwurst—wasn't there something about an incomplete in math?"

June 1957

"Guess the Crows are pretty disappointed about the basketball sensation they pledged not getting eligible till now."

June 1956

"Oh, I couldn't afford to work for the kind of money you pay, Dad—I'm a college graduate!"

June 1948

"Excuse me, Ma'am — I'm working our way thru college!"

December 1959

"Wonder if Balfour puts out a pen and checkbook set with our crest on?"

December 1958

"And I don't notice YOU getting any WOMAN of the Year awards, either."

March 1959

"I don't know which to choose—I'm being rushed by three Fraternities and one old high school sweetheart."

June 1959

"Don't tell me I'm supposed to run a Sweetheart Contest, too!"

March 1960

"I just want to get married and get a good job so I can go to college—what's wrong with that?"

September 1958

"Now don't think we'd let just anybody vote our proxies like this!"

June 1960

"Maybe if either you or Mom quit working they'd give me a money scholarship!"

December 1957

"I guess that was to take the curse off it this Christmas!"