

Summer 1966

"Took my summer courses here 'way back when the idea was to finish college as quick as possible."

Fall 1966

"Now I have to dream up some commitment that won't alienate my old man!"

COVER: Bob Dell as he sees himself working on a GARNET & WHITE cartoon, and about it he says, "My only regret on this self-portrait is that it doesn't show off enough of my current pride in decolorizing myself of 30 pounds since the heart scare last April. Nor was there room to show my racks of pipes, shelves of books, and wall of girl calendars. Otherwise it is practically photographic, including the suspenders AND belt (I voted for Goldwater), and the fly swatter, paint rag and erasings brush." This is his 100th cartoon for G&W.
