

mann to Jim Vieregg and Ron Skupien to lead 14-7. In a fun-filled two minute extension to the game, the Brothers scored five touchdowns including one to Bob Schmisser on the official eligible. The final score was 48-7.

Halloween was marked by a highly successful party. The entire basement was converted into a haunted house, and a pumpkin carving contest highlighted the evening. Brother Joe Van Wassenhove won a bottle of "Old Crow" for his winning pumpkin.

The Pledge dance was a big success as Pledge Social Chairman Steve Car and the rest of the Pledges went all out. "A Hard Night at Beaver Junction" was the theme as the first floor was converted into a Western saloon and dance hall. A large number of guests from other fraternities helped make the evening a big success.

A big Christmas party is planned for late December, but the social event of the month could be Brother Joe Kocinski's 21st birthday party. Joe is planning quite a party.

Brothers Jim Smith and Ralph Kuhn fixed the chimes on the "Mothers" clock, and we are wondering if any of our Graduate Brothers remember when it last chimed. Please drop us a card and let us know.

The Brothers of Phi Kappa hope that all the Crows everywhere have an enjoyable Holiday Season. We extend a hearty welcome to our newest Chapter, Tau Phi at Alfred University.
