

Crows celebrate new student week

☞ Togetherness is a good one word description of the activities that Phi Kappa held during the Spring Semester New Student Week. New Student Week is basically a time when the Brothers and Pledges are looking for something fun to do before the grind of school begins.

Instead of breaking up into small groups and going our separate ways, the men of Phi Kappa decided to play and work together as a single unit. The "fun" began with the all-House clean-up on the Thursday of New Student Week. Though it may sound like work, it was turned into a competitive game.

Each room or set of rooms were assigned a particular area of the House and a case of beer was awarded to the winners. Rooms 4 and 6 teamed up to win the beer, barely beating the tremendous job done by the basement and room 10.

Good Job

A good job was done by all, and everyone was ready to sit back and "party down" at the traditional basement party.

The fun continued the next day, as the entire House went bowling. Though there were some respectable scores bowled by the Brothers, they were all overshadowed by the outstanding game of 210 bowled by a new Pledge, Bob Cook. One might refer to the event as "The Phi Kappa Crow Bowl."

Saturday night all the Crows and Little Sister had a smashing bar night. Many "welcome back to school" hugs were exchanged, and many beers were drunk. It was a great feeling to look around and recognize nearly everyone.

We feel that doing things together are as important to a fraternity as they are to families. The new pledges were welcomed to the family at Phi Kappa in a big way and seemed to enjoy it greatly. ☞
