

PHI KAPPA

University of Illinois

☞ Hello from Phi Kappa. Spring semester and summer have been just as exciting as the rest of this year. We hope everyone has had a lot of fun this summer. Right now I'd like to tie up a few loose ends from last semester.

First of all, the social scene ended as hot as it started. Our dinner exchange with Phi Sigma Sigma was one of the more memorable events, as dinner was coupled with our own wild version of "Anything Goes." We also had plenty of fun surprising the girls of Phi Mu on Wednesday, April 8. The ladies thought they were showing up for a House meeting, but instead were greeted by 60 Crows, 2 kegs of beer, and 16 party-size pizzas from a local pizzeria. Both kegs were drained, and the pizzas gone at the end of the evening—not a bad job for a Wednesday night.

This year's Spring Formal was as fun as ever. Held at one of the higher class local restaurants, the event featured a prime rib dinner, a great local band, a well-supplied bar, and 50 Phi Kappa men and their dates. While this establishment was not easy to obtain, it was well worth it. Thanks go to Dale Marquart for our having such a fine place to hold our formal.

An annual event here at Phi Kappa is the Senior Party. Sponsored by the graduating Brothers, it stands, easily, as "the" party of the semester. This year's was no exception! Refreshments flowed somewhat liberally, as did a few of the Brothers. We'd like to thank the seniors for their hospitality.

Mom's Day at the big U. of I. was a great time, as usual. Andy Maczko, Mom's Day Chairman, did a great job setting up fine meals, great entertainment, and an overall enjoyable weekend for the Phi Kappa moms.

All in all, the spring semester was a fine one socially, and the majority of the credit goes to social chairman Jim Camel. Good job, Jim.
