Here at Phi Kappa, Dad's Day was once again a well-organized and smooth function. Thanks to the careful planning, all the Crow families had a great time. The Crow Dads and kin were treated to a fine show as the Fighting Illini romped over the Minnesota Gophers in the traditional Dad's Day game at Memorial Stadium. Of course, the Crow Port-a-Party added to the enjoyment.

Back at the Chapter House, the families enjoyed a steak dinner, set up and served by the '85 pledge class much to the appreciation of this humble chairman.

Later that evening, preparations for the annual Dad's Day party were made. Our pledge class was informed that they were to provide a skit for the Brotherhood to enjoy by 11:00 p.m. By then the crowd was primed to digest the '85's versions of how various Crow Brothers try to "score some
