

Overall it took 12 hours to get there. With minor car problems and uncooperative gas station attendants, we arrived at 2:00 a.m. We were received as all Crows should be: with open arms. From the time we arrived until the time we left, Phi Kappa Crows felt as if Phi Iota Chi was their home.

Although Central Michigan is not as large a campus as Illinois, the friendship among Greeks is astonishing. One can walk down the street and know all the people on the other side.

The Michigan Brothers were no exception. They exhibited the real meaning of being Greek, and more importantly, being Crows.

After all the fun was through—fighting with the sidewalk, free football games and parties, one thing was clear: this walkout would not be easily forgotten.

Phi Kappa Crows want to thank the Central Michigan Crows again for all their hospitality. To all other Crow Chapters thinking about walk-out: GO WEST! ϕ
