

PHI KAPPA

University of Illinois

☞ Greetings to everyone from the Crows at U of I. This semester started off great with an excellent rush. We pledged fifteen new members who are all very enthusiastic about the house. The same goes for our little sister program. Over 100 girls joined the program this year and we've managed to have a lot of fun activities such as BBQ's, movie nights, and our famous International Drink Night.

Our Homecoming was especially fun this year because it coincided with our Halloween costume party. The House was filled with all kinds of ingenious and unique costumes, but the best of all, and the winner of the costume contest, was a six-foot Mr. Bill. The highlight of the semester had to have been the pledge dance of the class of '91. The theme was Shang Crow La; the house was literally transformed into an island paradise, complete with ten tons of sand, palm trees, and giant hot tubs. Needless to say, the party went on long into the night.

The Phi Kappa Crows also got involved in community service this semester. Alpha Chi Rho helped the local chapter of the March of Dimes by participating in its "Prisoner Days" event. Several Crows were "arrested" and held in custody until they called friends and persuaded them to donate money to the charity in order to free them. The Phi Kappa Crows had a great time riding in a real paddy wagon, and getting their own personal mug shot. By the end of the evening they managed to raise over $500.

We at Illinois are really proud of this semester and excited about the one ahead.☞
